What we doHow does Robinhood Crypto protect my personal information?

To protect your personal information from unauthorized access and use, we use security measures that comply with federal law. These measures include computer safeguards and secured files and buildings.

When you access the Robinhood mobile application or website, you are required to provide your Robinhood user name and your password. Do not share your password and change it frequently.

How does Robinhood Crypto collect my personal information?

We collect your personal information, for example, when you

- open an account
- provide account information
- direct us to place cryptocurrency orders on your behalf
- deposit or withdraw cryptocurrencies to or from your Robinhood Crypto account.

We also collect your personal information from others, such as credit bureaus, affiliates, or other companies.

Why can't I limit all sharing?

Federal law gives you the right to limit only

- sharing for affiliates' everyday business purposes—information about your creditworthiness
- affiliates from using your information to market to you
- sharing for nonaffiliates to market to you

State laws and individual companies may give you additional rights to limit sharing.

What happens when I limit sharing for an account I hold jointly with someone else?

- Your choices will apply to everyone on your account.
