Introduction
Robinhood Financial LLC ("Robinhood Financial", "RHF," "we," "our," or "us") is registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission as a broker-dealer and is a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority ("FINRA") and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation ("SIPC"). Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ; and it is important that you understand these differences. Free and simple tools are available for you to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

What fees will I pay?
Robinhood does not charge commissions for executing buy and sell orders, nor does it charge for the point in time brokerage Recommendation and is not monitored for future market changes. Recommendations are only available for certain ETFs with a minimum investment of $20.00; additional information about these limitations and other information about Recommendations is available in the RHF Regulation Best Interest Disclosure. You always make the ultimate decision regarding whether to buy and sell securities (including if you receive a Recommendation from us). We do not have any account minimums.

Robinhood Financial is an introducing broker-dealer. Your cash and securities will be custodied by our affiliate, Robinhood Securities, LLC ("Robinhood Securities" and together with Robinhood Financial, “Robinhood”), which services your account by executing, clearing and settling your trades; preparing and distributing your account statements and trade confirmations; and extending credit to margin accounts. We offer NYSE- and NASDAQ-listed stocks, ETFs, options and American depositary receipts ("ADRs"), as well as certain stocks and ADRs traded in over-the–counter markets. We also offer fractional shares in many of the same stocks, ETFs, and ADRs. We do not offer account types other than individual brokerage accounts, nor do we offer mutual funds or fixed income securities, except in the form of an ETF. Robinhood does not provide account or investment monitoring services.

Conversation starters: Given my financial situation, should I choose a brokerage service? Why or why not? How will you choose investments to recommend to me? What is your relevant experience, including your licenses, education and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean? Responses to these questions can be found at: rbnhd.co/crs-rs.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?
Robinhood Financial offers brokerage services to retail investors. Our primary business is providing retail customers with an app-based brokerage platform ("App") to place orders to buy and sell stocks, exchange-traded funds ("ETFs"), and other securities or investment strategies such as trading on margin or using options strategies. Robinhood also provides educational content and tools for investors to learn about trading and the markets. Certain retail customers are given an option to receive a recommendation of an asset allocation of ETFs through a proprietary computer algorithm, available exclusively through the App ("Recommendation"). This is a point in time brokerage Recommendation and is not monitored for future market changes. Recommendations are only available for certain ETFs with a minimum investment of $20.00; additional information about these limitations and other information about Recommendations is available in the RHF Regulation Best Interest Disclosure. You always make the ultimate decision regarding whether to buy and sell securities (including if you receive a Recommendation from us). We do not have any account minimums.

When we provide you with a Recommendation, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the Recommendations we provide you. Here are some examples to help you understand what this means:

IntraFi Network Deposit Sweep Program. Robinhood gives you the choice to have your uninvested cash in your brokerage Account deposited into an insured account at one or more Program Banks. We earn money on the difference (or spread) between the rate at which the Program Bank pays you for the cash and the fees paid to us by the Program Banks for the use of your cash, so Robinhood has an incentive to send your cash to the Program Banks, and you receive a lower yield than if the Program Banks did not pay us a fee.

Payment for Order Flow. Robinhood earns revenue from your trade activity and therefore has a monetary incentive for you to trade more. Specifically, we earn revenue from third-party market centers to which we route customer orders, so we have an incentive to route orders to market centers that pay or rebate us for such orders, subject to our best execution requirements.

Principal Trading. RHS is responsible for executing your fractional share orders. When RHS has sufficient inventory in its principal account to facilitate your fractional orders, RHS will execute your fractional orders in a principal capacity. If RHS does not have sufficient inventory for your fractional orders, it may source additional shares from the market, and provide you with the same price that RHS received from the market in a riskless principal capacity. When it acts as principal, RHS may make money or lose money on a transaction, depending on a variety of factors. For more information on money RHS can make from trading activity please see our 606 Report within the Disclosure Library.

Examples of Other Revenue Robinhood Receives:
- Interest on uninvested cash deposited in interest-bearing bank accounts outside the Sweep Program.
- Stock loan income from lending the stocks you purchase on margin or through your participation in the fully paid securities lending program.
- Interchange fees from purchases made by you with the Sweep Service debit card.
- Payment from a third–party for services rendered in distributing new securities issues.

Conversation starters: How might your conflicts of interest affect me, and how will you address them? Our response to this question can be found at: rbhd.co/crs-rs.
