

Scanner Disclosure

The Scanner is provided for informational and educational purposes only and should not be used or construed as investment advice, or an offer, solicitation, or recommendation to buy, sell, or hold any security, asset or financial product discussed therein or engage in any specific investment strategy.

The Scanner is an asset-discovery tool that matches symbols based solely on the technical and fundamental criteria you define and is not designed to provide results specific to your individual financial situation, risk tolerance, or investment goals, and should not be relied upon in any way to determine the suitability of an asset or investment for you. You can modify the criteria as you see fit. Before buying or selling any investment or asset, you should carefully consider your individual financial situation, investment objectives, risk tolerance, and liquidity needs to determine whether the investment or asset is suitable for you.

Scanner outputs do not consider or reflect future dividend payments or take into account interest rate variabilities, or additional expenses and transaction costs, such as applicable taxes, fees, and interest, which may affect the profitability of a trade and the value of your investments. Results may vary with each use and over time, do not reflect actual investment results, and are not guarantees of future results.

Keep in mind this tool is only one approach to analyzing financial assets. When considering which assets to buy, sell or hold, customers should use the approach that they're most comfortable with. Past performance is no guarantee of future results.

The information contained in Scanner does not purport to present a complete picture of the financial position, activities, results, actions or future performance of any index, security, or asset. Robinhood does not endorse or adopt any particular investment strategy or approach to evaluating individual securities or assets. While the information is deemed reliable, Robinhood makes no representations or warranties with respect to the accuracy or completeness of the information provided. Information provided is based on various data sources, which may include market data and other information provided by third party information providers.

Scanner results are static at the time of the request and do not update continuously to reflect real-time market changes. Because market data is dynamic, results may not reflect current conditions between manual or auto-refresh intervals. Auto-refresh is a functional setting that does not guarantee the Scanner will capture every market movement as it occurs. To assist with asset identification, Futures contracts are indicated with a "/" prefix (e.g., /ES), and Cryptocurrencies are identified by a crypto icon to the right of the symbol. The Scanner table displays a maximum of 200 rows of results from a total universe capped at 1,500 matching symbols. This means the Scanner may not display all available market instruments that meet your criteria. If results include Exchange Traded Funds (ETFs), users should refer to the standardized performance disclosures provided within the tool.

User-defined scans are limited to 1,000 saved instances per account. Scan configurations and column arrangements are maintained across sessions but do not constitute a permanent record of market conditions at the time the scan was run.

Options trading is subject to eligibility requirements. Options trading entails significant risk and is not appropriate for all customers. Customers must read and understand the Characteristics and Risks of Standardized Options before engaging in any options trading strategies. Options transactions are often complex and may involve the potential of losing the entire investment in a relatively short period of time. Certain complex options strategies carry additional risk, including the potential for losses that may exceed the original investment amount.

The Scanner matches futures based on currently active contract data. It does not account for, or provide notification of, upcoming rollover dates or contract expirations. Futures trading involves significant risk and is not appropriate for everyone.

Robinhood Financial does not guarantee favorable investment outcomes. The past performance of a security or financial product does not guarantee future results or returns. Customers should consider their investment objectives and risks carefully before investing in options. Because of the importance of tax considerations to all options transactions, the customer considering options should consult their tax advisor as to how taxes affect the outcome of each options strategy. Supporting documentation for any claims, if applicable, will be furnished upon request.

Trading and owning digital assets involves significant risk, including the risk of substantial loss. Cryptocurrency held through Robinhood Crypto is not FDIC insured or SIPC protected. Crypto trading in Robinhood Legend is limited to certain jurisdictions.

Futures, options on futures and cleared swaps trading involves significant risk and is not appropriate for everyone. Please carefully consider if it's appropriate for you in light of your personal financial circumstances. Futures, options on futures, and cleared swaps trading is offered by Robinhood Derivatives, LLC ("RHD"), a registered futures commission merchant with the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC) and Member National Futures Association (NFA). RHD accounts are not FDIC insured or SIPC protected.

There are additional, unique risks with trading during extended hours you should be aware of before making an investment decision, including the risk of lower liquidity, increased volatility, greater spreads, and pricing uncertainty. Please review the Extended Hours Trading Disclosure for more information concerning these risks.